
Online courses

Introduction to Generative AI | Czech

The course was created at the Faculty of Humanities as Practical Applications of AI in Studies. However, we believe it will serve excellently as an introduction to working with generative AI for any beginner! The course reveals the behind-the-scenes of AI technology, presents the basic principles of effective work with chatbots, outlines the practical uses of chatbots in work or study, and highlights some risks and ethical considerations associated with using chatbots

Introduction to Generative AI

Legal Aspects of Using AI | Czech

The training focuses on key legal issues related to the use of artificial intelligence in an academic environment. It will introduce you to current legal regulations concerning AI, including regulations governing the protection of personal data and copyrighted works. The main theme of the training is the legal issues associated with integrating AI tools into the teaching process

Recording of the seminar

(May be viewed after logging in)

Elements of AI | English

The free online course Elements of AI will introduce you to many areas of this broad topic after registration. In six accessible chapters, the course covers issues of AI in the real world, machine learning, and the societal impacts of artificial intelligence.

<https://www.elementsofai.cz/>